Need to Amp Up Your Romance Game? Book This Exclusive Beachside Oasis

If you're trying to impress your love (or make like you're on an episode of The Bachelor) the private palapa at Bucuti & Tara Beach Resort is the obvious choice. Yes, the location is spectacular but the food was just as jaw dropping. While the resort's Elements restaurant showcases a fusion of European and Caribbean cuisine, they also offer an array of options for those who are vegetarian, vegan, and gluten-free. You can book this Insta-worthy romantic table for breakfast and lunch, but the ultimate choice would be dinner—sipping champagne while overlooking the lapping waves all with a side order of spectacular sunset. You're welcome.

Pro Tip: Reservations are required for this exclusive experience and be sure to also adhere to the smart casual dress code—shirts and shoes required and no tank tops during dinner. Hungry for more?

Our friends at Condé Nast Traveler have shared their insider tips for the island's can't-miss and local-approved experiences and, of course, Aruba's most stunning beaches to visit during your stay.
